

WHAT WILL HE DO WITH BASEBALL?

Judge K. M. Landis.

Organized baseball waits breathlessly for the decision of Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, who holds its fate in his hands. If he decides that organized baseball is a trust and orders its dissolution, the American and National leagues will then be in the same boat as the Federals.

MARKETS

BOSTON, Jan. 26.—The general market held steady throughout the session with leading values closing 14 to 24 above yesterday's close. Unpaid freight which was temporarily halted seems to have been resumed with all profit taking sales readily absorbed. Considering the possibility of large surpluses on resumption of commercial activity we cannot help but feel that present level of values offers excellent opportunities to pick up some bargain investment and speculative securities.

Copper shares were in good demand on light offerings. It is reported that Calumet & Hecla have advanced the selling price to $13.34. Copper shares should be bought on all slight setbacks for a big advance.

HOW GOOD THAT MUSTEROLE FEELS

It Gets to That Sore Spot Like Magic

"A-ah! That's delicious relief for those sore muscles, those stiff joints, that lame back."

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard and other home simples.

It does the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster, minus the plaster and minus the blister!

You simply rub MUSTEROLE on the spot where the pain is—rub it on, back, and the pain is gone.

No more no-bother. Just comforting, soothing relief—first a gentle glow, then a delightful sense of coolness. And best of all, no blisters like the old-fashioned mustard plaster used to make.

There is nothing like MUSTEROLE for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, and all the Neuralgias, Headache, Colic, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chills, Cuts, Frost-bites and Colds of the Chest (it often prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Be sure you get the genuine MUSTEROLE. Refuse imitations—get what you ask for. The Musterole Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

Keep the Children Bright and Happy

Happy youngsters must be healthy. The digestive organs of children get out of order as readily as do those of their elders, and the result is equally distressing. When the bowels are clogged with an accumulation of refuse from the stomach, the child naturally becomes cross and fretful from the discomfort, and is often punished for temper when medical attention is really what is needed.

The next time your child is cross and unhappy, without apparent reason, try giving it a mild laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild, pleasant, laxative combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and is especially recommended for children because of its freedom from all opiates or narcotic drugs and its gentle action. It is sold in drug stores everywhere. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 252 Washington St., Montreal, N. B.

LURID TALE TELLS ARCTIC ADVENTURES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Telling of times when dog meat—and the meat of starved-to-death dogs at that—tasted better than any porthouse steak he had ever eaten; picturing a region where the average velocity of the wind is fifty miles where a hunting flag goes to shreds in a few minutes, a flag of stoutest canvas is thrashed to pieces in an hour, and a flag of tin is shattered out of shape in the first gale, so that sheet iron is the material that must be used; describing sea elephants that weigh sometimes as much as four tons each and measure 25 feet in length; showing penguin rookeries so large and so densely populated that from a vantage point they seemed like vast pebbled beaches instead of bird colonies. Sir Douglas Mawson has presented before the National Geographic Society one of the most remarkable stories of polar exploration that has ever come from those regions.

In his account of his researches along the great Antarctic continent discovered by Rear Admiral Charles Wilkes—who was the same Admiral Wilkes who figured in the historic "Trent," and removed from her, Mawson and Shidell—Sir Douglas said tribute to the explorer and his work.

Mawson and his party undertook the work under the patronage of the Australian Government. The steamer Aurora, formerly plying in American waters, was the ship that carried them to their base and finally brought them away. A midway base with a wireless relay station through which the party could keep in touch with civilization, was established at Macquarie Island, which was on the old sailing ship route between Australia and Cape Horn, and whose beaches are lined with the wrecks of many a ship. The main base was established at Cape Denison, on the Antarctic Continent, and a second base several hundred miles farther east.

Pictures were brought back by Sir Douglas showing the nesting places of a number of birds of passage who go to the Polar Continent to nest and, whose eggs have never been seen before. The birds and sea elephants were absolute strangers to fear, and would inspect the camera man with as much seeming interest as the camera man inspected them.

The character of the winds that blow on the edge of the Antarctic Continent was graphically shown by the fact that the men had to lean out upon it, at an angle of perhaps 45 degrees, to walk in the ordinary wind, while on canvas could record anything but a blank when the blizzard was at its height. The hut which was the headquarters of the party, had one window, which was in the roof. The breath of the men and the steam of the kitchen caused this to become frozen over to a thickness of five inches. Men going out to take the records of the climatological instruments had to break the ice that froze before their faces, from one side of their hoods to the other, and pictures showing how their faces were covered with great patches of frost-bite told an eloquent story of suffering.

But the scene was not all sombre. The cellar was a natural refrigerator, and consisted simply of the space under the floor of the hut. When the cook wanted a piece of meat he would send a dog down to get a penguin or a leg of mutton, and would take it away from him as he came out. One day the dog got away with a leg of mutton, which was rescued only after a chase of two hours; and then it was so damaged that the party voted to give it to the dogs after all. Reading matter was in great demand. One of the party read the Encyclopedia Britannica through to the O's.

Upon one occasion Sir Douglas set out with Dr. Mertz and Lieutenant Nimmo on a coast-charting expedition. After going about 200 miles Nimmo and his sledges were lost in a great crevasse. Hours of calling brought no response, and the astonished pieces of sledge at the bottom, told a painful story of his fate. Thereafter Mawson and Mertz turned around and started back to camp. They ate all the dogs one by one as they died by starvation. Finally there was only one dog left—Old Ginger. "Old Ginger was a noble animal," said Sir Douglas, "and he was game to the last. But when he died of that sheer hunger of the Antarctic wilderness of ice and snow, Mertz and I had to eat his carcass. We ate the body part first, breaking every bone so as to get out the marrow. Raw dog meat may not sound well at the distance or when one is far removed from the ultimate hunger in which the stomach seems to attack its very self, but there it tasted as good as anything you ever ate."

Finally Mertz began to sicken and to weaken, and in a few days, January 17th he was dead. I almost turned candidate so starved-out was my condition, but with all I buried him, and then started back on the hundred mile journey that lay between me and safety. Sore of body-sick of mind, it was more by crawling than by walking that I was able to get back to camp, only to see the Aurora disappearing over the horizon. It had left provision for me, however, and six men to search for me. Nothing but Providence saved me from the fate of Mertz and Nimmo.

TWO WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chicago, Ill.—"I must thank you with all my heart for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used to go to my doctor for pills and remedies and they did not help me. I had headaches and could not eat, and the doctor claimed I had female trouble and must have an operation. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it and feel fine. A lady said one day, 'Oh, I feel so tired all the time and have headaches.' I said, 'Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,' and she did and feels fine now."—Mrs. M. R. Karsenick, 1438 N. Paulina Street, Chicago, Illinois.

The Other Case. Dayton, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of pains in my side that I had for years and which doctors' medicines failed to relieve. It has certainly saved me from an operation. I will be glad to assist you by a personal letter to any woman in the same condition."—Mrs. J. W. Sherrin, 125 Cass St., Dayton, Ohio.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

THIS LITTLE GIRL DIVORCES PASTOR

Mrs. Doris Vaughn Darnell, photographed on witness stand.

Mrs. Doris Vaughn Darnell has just secured a divorce from the Rev. Darnell, whose love tangles resulted in his leaving a charge at Kenosha, Wis. She is seventeen years old and was married to the pastor in November, but never lived with him as a wife, according to her testimony. She lived at the home of her mother in Chicago awaiting the time that her preacher-husband could secure a home for her in Kenosha.

Hartmann 'Gibraltarized' TRUNKS $12.50 UP TO $35.00

—A stronger, more durable Trunk than the Hartmann "Gibraltarized" has never been built. The baggage man may throw it, drop it or misuse it generally — for it is built to withstand a lifetime of such treatment. The construction takes care of that.

"Gibraltarized" Trunks

are not the usual sort, which consists of a sort of dry goods box with a lot of trimmings and outer embellishments to hide the weaknesses within.

Every edge of this Trunk has a solid reinforcement underneath, into which the veneer panels or sides are dovetailed first—then double nailed—a veritable Gibraltar of strength, ready for a lifetime of service.
